

Genetic testing in pregnancy:

What are the experiences of Black women and their families?

Would you like to share your views?

Black women and their families are often not included in maternal health studies. This means that we don't know enough about the issues that are important to them.

We would like to speak to Black women and their families to learn about their experiences of being offered genetic tests when they were pregnant.

Be part of the change and have your voice heard!

- Are you of Black or mixed Black heritage?
- Have you been offered genetic testing in pregnancy within the last 5 years, such as NIPT, amniocentesis or CVS?
- Would you like to share your thoughts and experiences, and receive £25 for your time?

Dr Michelle Peter,
Lead Investigator

For more information on how to take part in a conversation with Michelle and her team, contact:

michelle.lowe@gosh.nhs.uk, scan the QR code below, or visit unheardvoices.co.uk

